

Catman's real name is Don Dull. Don is a timid office worker who's even too shy to talk with the girl of his dreams, Julie Draper. Julie has worked in the same office as Don for 3 years, but he's only spoken to her twice in that time, both times to say he was sorry for knocking her over.

Because Don is so shy, he has few hobbies or friends. Instead, he plays the sad songs on the piano and surrounds himself with cats. At last count, Don had more than 15 cats!

Recently, however, Don's cats have started to disappear. Don thought little of it at first, because everyone knows that cats do what they want when they want. But when Don started to hear other people in his building talk of losing their cats, and then people at work, too, he became suspicious.

Don had heard rumors of a new threat in the city, a vile and sinister man who went by the name "Dogman". Now that all of the superheroes are too old to fight, Don has decided that he will find Dogman and save the cats of Shenzhen!
